ZOO'S GUIDE TO ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW, WATCH, BUY & LAUGH AT THIS V RUGBY WORLD CUP WAGS!

ADSOLUTELY SCRUM-PTIOUS!

As the nations descend on England for a large rugby tournament, we've only got eyes for their WAGs...

fter months of hype, the Rugby World Cup is finally upon us and that can only mean one thing: an influx of unprecedented quality entering the country. And no, we're not referring to the squads of burly international players.

Obviously it's the incredible array of rugby WAGs who have got us jumping for joy higher than the second row in a line-out. But as is the case with these knockout tournaments, these gorgeous girlfriends won't be here forever, so you should make the most of their presence while you can.

Although you could always "try" to stay in "touch"...

LEY GYR TO POP'S Naughtiest UNGENSURED!

The naughty pop princess is back with a bang, so ZOO's celebrating with her rudest-ever moments!

hen it comes to deciding who is the most ridiculously raunchy and downright rudest, nudest and naughtiest global celebrity, you'd be hard pushed to suggest anyone other than the marvellous Miley Cyrus.

Having bowled us over during her topless beach break back in February, she dropped off our radar like a stealth bomber on reconnaissance.

However, the talented temptress has come back with an almighty bang, wowing men (and women) with all sorts of mischief at the MTV Video Music Awards, and even releasing a collection of FaceTime snaps for Interview magazine that are too X-rated even for ZOO!

Miley's ruder, naughtier and sexier than ever, which as you'll see, can only be a good thing...

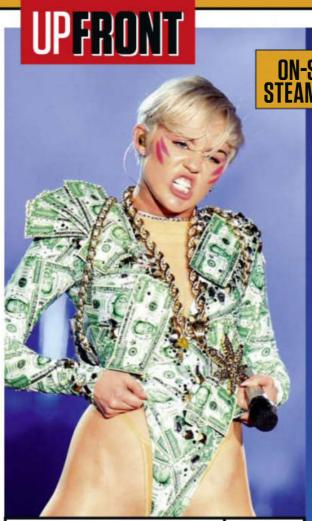

STAR!

SHE PUTS ON A GOOD SHOW!

A raunchy red light performance in Amsterdam? Nope, it's just Miley's legendary tours! This is what you can expect at her (unsurprisingly) sold-out gigs: skimpy leotards, inflatable sex toys and revealing stage antics!

IN NEED OF A HAYEMAKER THIS WEEK...
THE SCOTTISH FA

After it left its players to queue up for food at a burger chain in an airport lounge following a European qualifier defeat to Georgia, the Scottish FA doesn't need me to tell it that fast food is not the most nutritious of diet plans.

It's particularly bad when you're catching your flight back to prepare for the world champions. That's the basics.

I like a burger as much as anyone, but certainly not around fight time!

Hero on a plane

What a story about British Airways pilot Captain Chris Henkey who, one week away from retirement, saved almost 200 passengers and crew when his plane's engine caught fire.

The pictures of passengers walking away from the jet as it went up in smoke look like something from a Hollywood set. After signing out of service in that fashion, he and his family should never have to pay for a flight again.

Record breaker

I remember goading all my Arsenal mates when Wayne Rooney broke onto the scene as a 16-year-old and banged that screamer in against them. Now he's England's top scorer of all time. How time has flown.

He's a great ambassador for English football and the numbers don't lie. Whatever team you support you have to say he's one of the best this country has ever produced. Hopefully he can go until he's 40 like Ryan Giggs, and reach 100 goals!

ASK DAVID!

Do you think Floyd Mayweather Jnr will stay retired?

LEE DOTTUN, Colchester There's no way Floyd Mayweather Jnr will retire without breaking Rocky Marciano's record of 49-0. He doesn't call himself "The Best Ever" for no reason and he'll want that legacy of the best record. He lives the life and looks after himself in and out of the ring. so he could go on until he's 56-0.

Narco-gram

I thought I'd seen it all when it comes to flash gits on Instagram, but these Mexican cartel members showing off their wares is taking the p*ss.

I follow a few Instagram show-offs just for their outrageousness, but it's a bit sinister when narcos are flaunting their ill-gotten gains on there.

I read the other day that El Chapo's son almost led the cops to his dad because he forgot to remove location data from a picture he posted. Not the smartest of moves!

UPFRONT MOTORS

t's always nice when an automotive manufacturer still has the power to surprise. Take Renault for example: it's busy churning out little Twingos, Clios and Capturs and then - blam! There's the almighty Alaskan all up in your grille like a boozy rugby player after a night on the Guinness.

The chunky concept is said to be part of a bigger plan that will see sister companies Nissan and Mercedes-Benz also unleash pick-up trucks on the world by 2020.

It's supposedly loosely based on the already-in-production Nissan Navara, but packs enormous 21-inch alloys, solarpowered spot lamps on the roof, and a load area that can handle a one-tonne payload.

But because this is a concept, there is also a madcap feature that is almost guaranteed to be sadly absent from the version you'll buy. In this case it's a camera located in the door mirrors so the driver can "film the passing landscape," says the manufacturer.

Powering the brute is a surprisingly small 2.3-litre twin-turbo diesel engine that can be found in a number of current Renault vans, which develops just 163bhp. Don't expect mind-blowing performance figures, but the French marque claims it's good for a wallet-pleasing 40.4mpg.

There's no word on an official release date just yet, but if Renault slaps a 6.5-litre V8 under the bonnet, we'll order two right now!

A new dawn for Rolls-Royce
The ultra-posh British manufacturer has been busy teasing the upcoming Dawn with a series of pointless images. It has finally been unveiled and this is the soft-top convertible version of the 624bhp Wraith – and it's dead sexy. Expect the price tag to be equally impressive. impressive...

Vision of heauty
Unlike most of the other Gran Turismo concepts, the Bugatti Vision Concept isn't just a pie-in-the-sky drawing – it actually hints at what the Veyron's successor might look like. If the styling is even half this good, we're already rather excited

Another prickly Gaglus concept
What happens when you take the divisive Citroën
Cactus and lop its roof off? The answer is the Cactus M – and it's set to have punters retching on their bratwürst at the Frankfurt Motor Show. The only redeeming feature? The canvas roof doubles as a tent.

Plug yourself into this week's hottest entertainment, featuring the best films, games, music and DVDs

Our hangover mission of crawling out of bed to grab a bacon-loaded breakfast cannot compare to the sheer task of scaling a dangerous mountain, riddled with extreme winds and frostbiting temperatures.

Based on a true story, New Zealander Rob Hall (Jason Clarke) is guiding his team to the summit of the world's highest mountain. But after a relentless snowstorm threatens their lives, they're forced to test their own strength and rely on difficult decisions to return back to base safely.

The vertigo will leave you sweating, but with a cast at the peak of their careers delivering true human grit for a realisticfeeling and visually epic flick, Everest looks set to soar to dizzying heights, becoming one of this year's most compelling blockbusters. ★★★★☆

The road warrior's return to consoles was pencilled for release last year, and that delay could potentially be the game's biggest downfall with so many other big titles this autumn.

But make no mistake, this is a cracking game, with superb visuals, a great combat system - ripped from fellow Warner Bros title Batman: Arkham Knight - and some of the best vehicle destruction committed in videogames. If you can make the time for it, you won't be disappointed! ★★★★☆

An exploration of solitude and awkwardness, Results sees Trevor (Guy Pearce) and Kat (Cobie Smulders) as two fitness trainers whose lives are changed thanks to wealthy, depressed client Danny (Kevin Corrigan). While Corrigan is perfect, Smulders and Pearce have a romance that's as dull as kicking a deflated football.

Like an éclair without the chocolate and cream, this movie's got the structure, but the substance just isn't very filling. ★★★☆☆

jht Outta Compton A brilliant take on N.W.A revolutionising hip-hop in the most dangerous place in '80s USA ***

Pixar takes emotions, as little girl Riley struggles to cope with a move to San Francisco. ***

Tom Cruise is back. And there's Rebecca Ferguson's

Hitman: Agent 47 Perfect killing machine Agent 47 helps a woman find her father. The video games are better. ***

Aliens see gaming feeds as a declaration of war, so attack. Adam Sandler disappoints... ***

Even if you only have a passing interest in rugby union, it's virtually impossible not to enjoy this amazing story behind England's World Cup triumph in Sydney 12 years ago.

But rather than focusing solely on that glorious six-week competition, the inspiring documentary begins further back in history, in the '90s in fact, and at the time of the professionalisation of the game.

From here, the film only gets better and better as we're treated to plenty of never-seenbefore footage and exclusive interviews that expose Sir Clive Woodward's brilliant (and bonkers) training techniques, as well as the amazing transformation that led to Martin Johnson and Jonny Wilkinson becoming titans of the sport.

As far as sporting documentaries go, this is as flawless as a last-minute Jonny Wilkinson drop goal. ★★★★

John Wick

When ex-hitman John Wick (Keanu Reeves) to track down the brutal gangsters that took everything from himmost importantly his beautiful wife – all hell breaks loose. Also starring (an annoying) Alfie Allen and the coolest on-screen dog, this can be re-watched an infinite number of times and you'll still wince. ★★★★☆

The Libertines Anthems For Doomed Youth

It's the one we've all been waiting for, so you'll be glad to hear the "Likely Lads" haven't lost their mojo just yet. This album's poetic – which will appeal to old fans – with yet more warreferencing slow jams (You're My Waterloo) and acoustic riffs. Mental and chaotic, sure. But brilliant, too. ★★★☆

Unfriended

We all know the perils of social media, but what would you do if you logged on to a Skype call with a group of mates and all of a sudden a mysterious, supernatural force was using the account of your friend who'd recently passed away? Creepy, right? Well, watch how the whole thing pans out in this freaky flick about that exact scenario. ***

Rugby World Cup 2015

For those of you who just hotly-anticipated hosting of the Rugby World Cup grab yourself a copy of the official game! You may be slightly let down by the graphics and the difficult controls (there are about a million), but guiding your heroes to Trophy will make up for all of that! ★★☆☆☆

MATTHEW HEINEMAN

This bonkers film-maker took a camera into the heart of Mexican gangland to document the violence...

HEY, MATTHEW! FIRSTLY, CONGRATS ON YOUR INCREDIBLY POWERFUL DOCUMENTARY, CARTEL LAND. WHAT DREW YOU TO THE PROJECT?

I don't have a personal connection to Mexico, nor do I have family members there, but one day when I was riding the subway in New York, I picked up a copy of Rolling Stone magazine and read this article called Border Madness about the Arizona vigilantes. I knew immediately that I wanted to explore the potential of this film and I spent many months talking to war veteran Tim "Nailer" Foley - who has dedicated much of his life to defending the US border - and he gave me his trust and invited me to Arizona, For me, it was more a case of investigating what happens when citizens feel like they have to take the law into their own hands.

YOU WERE IN AND AMONG GANGLAND GUNFIRE RIGHT FROM THE OFF. DID YOU FEAR YOU'D DIE FOR YOUR ART?

I've never been in such dangerous situations in my life - my first film was on the state of healthcare in the US! So, of course I was apprehensive of flitting between cartels and vigilantes, places of torture and meth labs in darkness. I can't describe how it felt to be in those places.

DID YOU TAKE ANY SPECIAL PRECAUTIONS?  We shot in Michoacan in Mexico, and Arizona in the US. We originally bought some bulletproof vests, but in Arizona we found we didn't need them as the violence wasn't as widespread. Mexico was a different story – a different level of danger. So much so, everywhere I went, journalists and Mexican citizens thought I was crazy to even try to capture the story on film. The State Department website for Michoacan states: "Absolutely no one from America shall enter Michoacan under any circumstances." But we went anyway...

DID YOU GET USED TO BEING PERMANENTLY SCARED?

Well, I didn't ever sh*t myself, that was a bonus. But I don't think you can ever get used to constant gunfire. There were plenty of times I thought, "What the hell am I doing here? Is this worth it?" But it's not like we shot any of this stuff to be gratuitous, we shot it all for the story and it all made sense and all ended up being part of the narrative. I felt a huge duty and obligation to bare witness to the horrible situations.

JONAH HILL LOVED CARTEL LAND! DOES IT FEEL GOOD TO GET SUCH PRAISE?

Having Kathryn Bigelow [director of The Hurt Locker] come on as an executive producer was amazing. I have a huge amount of respect for her as a film-maker. When we made this film, we were out in the middle of nowhere for months and months. not knowing how it'd be received, so it's been very humbling and wonderful to see people like Jonah react so well.

They're brunette and incredibly booby! What's not to love!

> here's a proud history of great British double acts. But while the likes of Derek and Rodney Trotter, Ant and Dec and, of course, Dick and Dom, may be much-loved, one thing that cannot be said is that they hold the title of "Britain's Bustiest Duo". That's because that honour belongs to the bra-busting brilliance of Joey Fisher and Stacey Poole.

These two busty beauties are no strangers to teaming up for saucy shoots. In fact, they really are the breast of friends...

WHO'S IN IT? Emily Blunt, Josh Brolin, Benicio del Toro

WHO'S IN IT? Chris J Murray, Brit Shaw, Dan Gill

HAT'S IT ABOUT? We're back for the sixth and final instalment of this terrifying found footage franchise and we know the drill by now: one family, a new home, and plenty of scares...

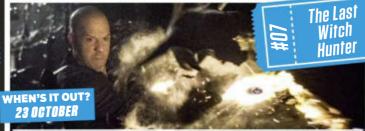

WHY WATCH IT? You can't resist those spine-tingling chills!

WHO'S IN IT? Daniel Craig, Christoph Waltz, Ralph Fiennes

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? The smooth-talking 007 returns for arguably the most eagerly-anticipated Bond film ever made, hoping to top the box office smash that was Skyfall. No pressure then.

WHY WATCH IT? Because when does a Bond film ever disappoint?

WHO'S IN IT? Vin Diesel, Rose Leslie, Elijah Wood, Michael Caine

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? A supernatural action extravaganza as Vin Diesel finds out he's immortal and is the world's only hope of fighting back against a horrific plague threatening humanity.

WHY WATCH IT? It's years since we've seen Vinny D clobber beasts!

WHO'S IN IT? Patrick Schwarzenegger, Halston Sage, Tye Sheridan

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? It's Zombieland meets Superbad in an offbeat comedy packed to the rafters with blood-spattering violence, zombie boobs (yes, really) and perfectly-tied sheepshank knots...

WHY WATCH IT? It's much better than the scout groups you attended!

WHO'S IN IT? Nicholas Hoult, Ed Skrein, James Corden

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? It's '97, Britpop is taking over, and one A&R man is out to slash through an industry fuelled by greed, ambition and inhuman quantities of drugs to find the next big thing!

WHY WATCH IT? It's this generation's Trainspotting!

WHO'S IN IT? Michael Fassbender, Kate Winslet, Seth Rogen

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? An all-star cast takes on recreating the life of the man who brought us our beloved iPhones, iPods and battled with Microsoft for the title of king of computers.

WHY WATCH IT? You're probably using one his gadgets right now!

WHO'S IN IT? Mark Strong, Vera Farmiga, Harry Lloyd, Anton Lesser

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? A surprisingly funny true story based on a band of Romanian rebels who pull off the crime of the century, holding up the National Bank. And they're making a film about it.

WHY WATCH IT? It's an utterly brilliant true tale!

WHO'S IN IT? Tom Hanks, Austin Stowell

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? The gripping story of a bigwig New York lawyer, who flies to Berlin to negotiate the release of a Cold War pilot captured by those pesky Soviets.

WHY WATCH IT? A courtroom drama from Spielberg? We're in!

WHO'S IN IT? Jennifer Lawrence, Liam Hemsworth, Woody Harrelson

VHAT'S IT ABOUT? The concluding chapter in The Hunger Games series goes out with a bang as Katniss Everdeen's band of freedom fighters looks to bring down the capital and President Snow for good.

WHY WATCH IT? It's the last opportunity to watch J-Law kicking arse!

WHO'S IN IT? Johnny Depp, Benedict Cumberbatch, Kevin Bacon

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? An unrecognisable Johnny Depp plays an Irish mobster who teams up with a corrupt FBI agent to take down the Italian mobsters responsible for many gruesome crimes!

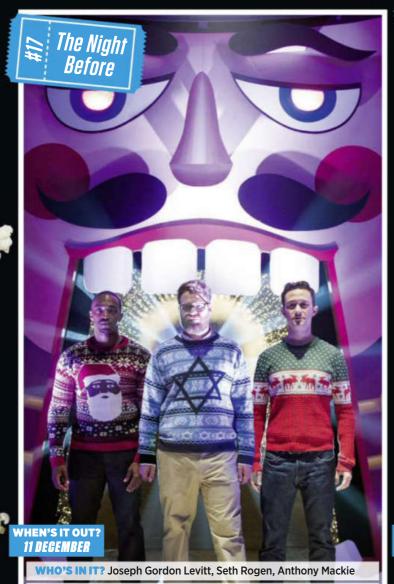

WHY WATCH IT? It's your regular gangland thriller... with a twist!

NIT? Daniel Radcliffe, James McAvoy, Jessica Brown Findlay

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? Two of our favourite Brit stars (and that hot one from Downton Abbey) do the monster mash in a big-budget, actionpacked modern retelling of the classic horror fable.

MEET CURVACEOUS CUTIE...

Essex's sexiest wannabe MMA fighter talks wild nights, house parties and her favourite outfits...

t's not often we get sexy cage fighters gracing the pages of ZOO, but Essex beauty Skye Lily is definitely tearing up the rulebook and proving even the toughest girls look lovely in lingerie!

Fortunately, she's ditched the gloves and gum guard to shoot for you lucky lot...

SKYE, THIS IS DIFFERENT TO YOUR ROLE AS TRAINEE MMA FIGHTER...

I know - tell me about it! I'm really excited as I've never done anything like this. I'm just jumping straight into training!

MODELLING AND MARTIAL ARTS DON'T USUALLY GO TOGETHER!

There's something sexy about the stuff I wear in the gym, as you've got to wear some really tight - and very short - shorts. They're quite similar, really!

IS THERE ANYTHING ELSE SEXY ABOUT MMA?

All of the groundwork we do. Rolling around the floor with your opponent and all of the body contact in tight spaces is actually quite erotic.

HAVE YOU GOT ANY FIGHTS IN THE DIARY?

Not for now - I wouldn't want a broken nose to affect my modelling!

WE WOULDN'T EITHER! IS THAT THE ONLY SURPRISE SKYE LILY FACT?

No! I used to live on an Army base in Cyprus, which was cool. I got to have a great time with my friends, even if we did once upset some local hard men and did a runner on Segways!

A RUNNER ALL THE WAY BACK TO BLIGHTY?

Yeah, I'm back in Grays again - there's not much happening these days. It's quite dull!

SURELY THERE MUST BE AT LEAST ONE COOL THING ABOUT GRAYS...

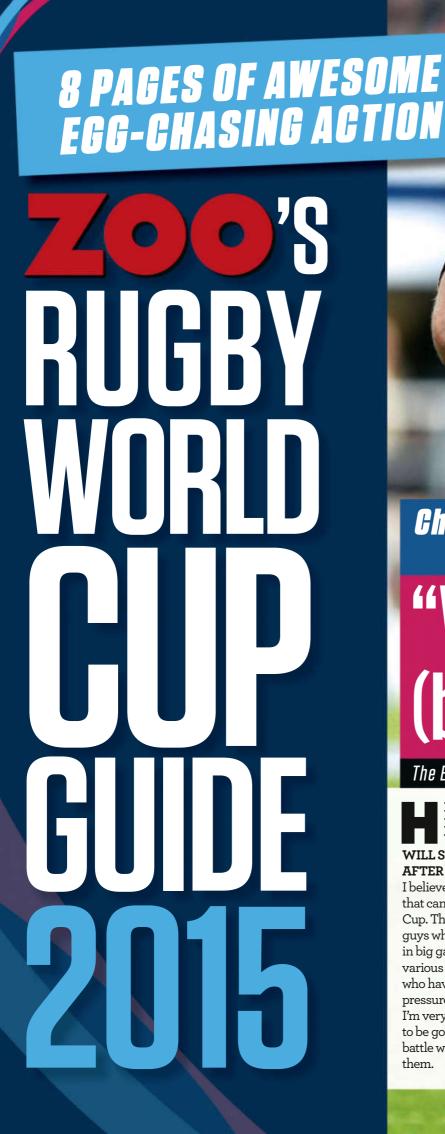

Well, Russell Brand went to the same school as me. I never saw him as I was too busy sleeping while everyone was making a fuss over him when he popped in.

SNOOZE, YOU LOSE! TELL US ABOUT A SKYE NIGHT

It depends who I'm with. With my best mates in a nightclub, there's no stopping meespecially when I get a feeling for the music. Most of the time it's meant to be a quiet night in the pub, but then the drinks keep coming and I end up trying to clear the dance floor to bust some moves.

WEBB ELLIS CUP WILL STILL BE IN THE UK AFTER 31 OCTOBER?

I believe this is a squad that can lift the World Cup. There are enough guys who have played in big games in various competitions who have dealt with pressure, and I'm very happy to be going into battle with them.

LANCASTER'S SQUAD?

Looking at the squad, I'm very pleased. There are a lot of young players in there, which brings excitement and the balance is very good. I look around and I'm confident in the players we have.

WITH THE ASHES AND RUGBY WORLD CUP ALL IN ONE YEAR, COULD

2015 GO DOWN AS THE BEST EVER?

Ha ha. I sat next to Jimmy Anderson at Wimbledon this year just before the Ashes, and Stuart Broad was at one of our games. You pick up little things from guys like that who go into similar types of situations.

ARE YOU SURE YOU SHOULD BE GETTING TIPS FROM CRICKETERS?

It's useful to speak to anyone who undergoes high pressure situations, taking bits of information from them.
We've spoken to people like ex-England cricket coach Andy Flower and Three Lions boss Roy Hodgson, who have been # involved in big tournaments. CONSIDERING HOW ENGLAND FARED AT BRAZIL 2014, THAT DOESN'T FILL US WITH MUCH CONFIDENCE...

I've also spoken to a number of the guys who won the 2003 World Cup for England. They had games where they flew past people and some where they clawed their way through. It's about learning how to win. DO YOU EXPECT TO CLAW YOUR WAY

THROUGH THE GROUP OF DEATH?

It'll be tough but if you want to do well, you have to beat every team. Fiji are up first, and we'll have to hit the ground running.

DOES THAT MEAN THE FANS SHOULD PREPARE FOR WINNING UGLY?

At big tournaments it doesn't matter how you play, it's all about winning. No one remembers the bad games unless you are a rugby fanatic. It's about doing what needs to be done in any given situation.

IS CAPTAINING THE HOST NATION THE TOUGHEST JOB IN THE WORLD?

I'm extremely honoured to be England captain and you're always looking for ways to improve, as well as seeing how you can get the best out of your teammates. You have a broader understanding and connection with the team, but you need downtime as well. It's hugely important.

ZOO'S RUGBY WORLD CUP GUIDE 2015

The big guns preview World Cup legends talk up their respective nations' chances

"England are hard to beat at Twickenham, but it will be a different sort of pressure once the tournament kicks off. They'll have to turn media scrutiny and fan expectation to their advantage and get into the zone quickly. Whoever comes out on top in this pool will be odds-on for a Final berth, and Ben Youngs is key.

His mixture of running the game and threatening rugby will underpin England's entire game."

"Losing our most in-form player Rhys Webb and Leigh Halfpenny, who's kicking has saved us in games we should have been out of, was horrendous. This squad is still filled with players who went close in 2011. We had so much confidence in New Zealand and we believed we could win it. Now they're four years more experienced, they'll be mentally prepared for the big games."

Wales vs Uruguay, Sunday 20 September, 2pm. ITV

"We have a lot of playmakers and good runners in the backs, but scrum-half might be an issue. With Will Genia coming back from injury, he'll have to find form quickly. Beating England at Twickenham will be a tough ask, and they'll finish top of the group. Wales are weakened after losing Halfpenny, so Australia will grab second and meet South Africa in the last eight."

Australia vs Fiji, Wednesday 23 September, 4,30pm, ITV

"Vern Cotter has done a fantastic job over the last season and Scotland have some good ball players in the forwards and midfield who've shown they can score tries. They've worked on defensive weaknesses from the Six Nations and you can see that after the results in their warm-up Tests. The best defensive teams progress further in the World Cup, so Scotland should get to the Quarter-Finals."

Scotland vs Japan, Wednesday 23 September, 2pm, ITV

"The timing of injuries has been terrible and South Africa have gambled on a lot of big squad decisions, but we've got a good balance with the injection of youngsters around seasoned campaigners like Victor Matfield, Jean de Villiers and Schalk Burger. Whoever we meet from Pool A might be battle-hardened after a tough group phase, but South Africa know how to play knockout rugby."

🖣 South Africa vs Japan, Saturday 19 September, 4.35pm, ITV

POOL C Jonah Lomu Yew Zealand

"The pressure is not on the All Blacks: it's on everyone else to beat us. It will come down to whether the desire to beat us is greater than our fear of losing. From the moment you start playing for New Zealand, it's bred into you that you don't lose. New winger Nehe Milner-Skudder will become a star at this World Cup. He reminds me of Jason Robinson, turning guys inside out and having a turn of pace to go with it."

New Zealand vs Argentina, Sunday 20 September, 4.35pm, ITV

"We made a big shout about competing in 2007 and didn't get out of our pool, so I am cautious about saying how good our chances are, but with this coaching team and the players we have, I think we have a real chance if we get a bit of luck. I'm expecting a big World Cup from Robbie Henshaw. He's already a big name in Ireland: now it's time the rest of the world got to know all about him."

Ireland vs Canada, Saturday 19 September, 2pm, ITV

Burgers, brothers and bonecrackers

ZOO reveals the big hitters, speedsters and bad boys to keep an eye out for...

Tusi Pisi (Fly-half) George Pisi (Centre) Ken Pisi (Wing) Samoa

With George and Ken running amok for Northampton Saints, the World Cup presents an opportunity to hook up with Japan-based older brother Tusi and become the first trio of siblings to take to the field together at the tournament. The youngest of the threeand most fleet-footed, Kenattributes his talents to being used as a tackling bag by his brothers aged four. Fortunately for him, they'll be on the same side for the next month at least.

French resistance!

Pascal Pape (Lock) France

One man not looking forward to seeing the bad boy French lock in their Pool D encounter is Ireland No8 Jamie Heaslip. Pape was banned for 10 weeks in February for deliberately kneeing the Irishman during their Six Nations clash, leaving him with three fractured vertebrae that almost ended his career. Expect some bad blood.

If you thought being Cobra'd looks bad, wait until you see what happens to players who get "Burger'd". The Namibian flanker punches well above his 6ft 2in and 16st 7lb frame, and was a key player in Saracens' run to Premiership glory last season. Having been handed the captain's armband, he'll be personally responsible for ensuring the Welwitschias aren't steamrollered like they were in New Zealand in 2011.

A fan favourite at Dunedin's Highlanders (as understudy to the best scrum-half in the world Aaron Smith), Tanaka isn't only the first Japanese to play Super Rugby, at 5ft 5in, he's also the smallest player ever to run out in the elite league. But the diminutive playmaker is far from a pushover and even credits his size as his "biggest" advantage.

Speedy Puma!

Juan Imhoff (Winger) Argentina

Having largely warmed the bench for the Los Pumas at the 2011 World Cup, Imhoff has graduated to become their main paceman and try scorer. His fantastic year was capped by scoring a hat-trick in their first-ever win over South Africa in the Rugby Championship, and he'll be coming into the tournament brimming with confidence.
